College for Public Health & Social Justice
9-Month, Tenured/Tenure-Track Faculty
Criminology and Criminal Justice Program

Saint Louis University, a Catholic, Jesuit institution dedicated to student learning, research, health care, and service, is seeking applicants for a 9-month, open rank tenure-track faculty position to begin Fall 2021. This position will join the Criminology and Criminal Justice Program, which is part of the School of Social Work and is housed in the College for Public Health and Social Justice.

Applicants for this position must hold a Ph.D. in Criminology & Criminal Justice, or a related field with a substantive research focus on criminology and criminal justice. Area of specialization is open, however the Criminology and Criminal Justice program is particularly interested in candidates whose research and teaching includes a strong emphasis on racial and/or social justice. Applicants must demonstrate strong potential for and/or high achievement in securing extramural funding, as well as excellence in scholarship and teaching. Primary responsibilities include conducting and publishing research, teaching and student mentoring at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, and professional and university service.

Salary is dependent on qualifications and experience. The hire is a priority for university administration and a competitive start-up package will be included. Applications must include curriculum vitae, cover letter, and three letters of recommendation. All applications must be submitted online at:

<https://slu.wd5.myworkdayjobs.com/Careers>

All other correspondence should be addressed to Joseph Schafer, Ph.D., Chair, CCJ Faculty Search Committee (joseph.schafer@slu.edu). Formal review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled.

Saint Louis University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer and encourages nominations of and application from women and minorities.
