

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

The Department of Social and Cultural Sciences is seeking an Adjunct Assistant Professor (non-tenure track) who will teach introductory courses in criminology and/or legal studies. Critical approaches are encouraged. The ability to contribute to curriculum being developed around our university-wide Race, Ethnic and Indigenous Studies (REIS) program will be considered a plus. The position carries a 4/4 teaching load and some service duties. This is a 9-month position with the expectation of appointment renewal for subsequent periods. The position is in person and will begin in August 2022.

A PhD in Criminology, Sociology, or related social science field is required by the time of appointment. A J.D. alone is not sufficient for this position. Applicants should demonstrate a commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and student success while working with diverse student populations.

The Department of Social and Cultural Sciences offers undergraduate majors in Anthropology, Criminology and Law Studies, Social Welfare and Justice, and Sociology. The department is committed to excellence in both teaching and scholarship. Please visit the department web site:

<http://www.marquette.edu/social-cultural-sciences/>

Marquette University is a Jesuit, Catholic University with a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs. We seek candidates who can contribute to its mission, a statement of which can be found at:

<http://www.marquette.edu/about/mission.php>. The campus is located in downtown Milwaukee, a racially diverse area with convenient access to national, state, and local government agencies, and many private institutions and non-profit organizations.

Review of candidates will begin on February 4, 2022. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Use the following link to Marquette's Human Resources Department to apply:

Adjunct Assistant Professor – Criminology and Law Studies:

<https://employment.marquette.edu/postings/16038>

