

Sam Houston State University

College of Criminal Justice

Assistant Professor

The College of Criminal Justice is seeking candidates at the assistant professor level for one or more full-time, tenure-track positions beginning Fall 2012. Candidates must have a Ph.D. (ABD considered) in criminal justice, criminology, or related academic fields. The salary is open depending upon qualifications.

Specifically, we are interested in hiring a candidate with strong research and teaching interests in areas such as communities and crime, social network analysis, and gangs and youth violence, but all areas of specialization in criminal justice and criminology will be considered. The successful candidate will have an active research agenda, potential for or record of funded research activity, and commitment to quality teaching and mentoring of students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

In addition to the Ph.D. in criminal justice, the college offers B.A., B.S., M.A., and M.S. degrees in criminal justice, victim studies, forensic science, and security studies. The College provides faculty members with exceptional research opportunities through its research centers and advanced training institutes as well as access to outstanding resources to support their professional development. The Chronicle of Higher Education recently listed Sam Houston State University among its "2011 Great Colleges to Work For."

To ensure full consideration, applications should include a letter of interest, a current vita, and the names and contact information for a minimum of three references addressed to: William King; Chair, Search Committee; Sam Houston State University; College of Criminal Justice, Box 2296; Huntsville, Texas 77341-2296, william.king@shsu.edu

Review of materials will begin October 1, 2011 and will continue until the search is completed.
